Canadian Investment Opportunities Database

We are excited to bring engaged investors and leading companies from around the world together as we unveil the Canadian Investment Opportunities Database (CIOD).

Quick Facts

- Major projects inventories in Canada are provided by some provinces and municipalities, in different formats, with varying degrees of aggregation.
- The first of its kind, the CIOD brings fragmented provincial, municipal and private sector information across Canada together into one database, in one standard format.
- A pan-Canadian web portal, the CIOD provides summary information on major capital projects across Canada by description, sector, value, jurisdiction, schedule, project contact, EPC contact, status etc.
- In addition to ensuring consistency of information, where there is an overlap, this integrated pan-Canadian data platform enables potential investors and project partners to improve their decision-making capabilities and business agility.
- The enhanced feature allows users to create and download data in an interactive fashion, using their preferred search criteria.
- The CIOD offers a matchmaking service for Forum attendees willing to opt-in. Opting-in enables potential investors and project partners to find suitable public and private projects that are either continuing or beginning in the current year.
- The database significantly increases participants' level of preparedness, thereby enabling pre-Forum discussions on the possibility of working together.
- Subject to confidentiality obligations, participants will be able to access important information on key private sector projects.
- The CIOD is password protected. To view it, participants will need to enter their password.
